

Release element K

Part No.: 784791

Approval: VdS

Description

The release element (FSE) serves as an additional unlocking element for opening the fire service key box via fire alarms manually actuated by the fire brigade, e.g. for fire or flooding caused by a burst pipe. Fully provided with special fire brigade locking cylinder including cover escutcheon with dust protection plate, for flush mounted installation.

Technical Data

Abmessungen Ø: 38 mm D: 80 mm

Additional information

For locking type information, please refer to the technical activation requirements provided by the respective fire brigade.

Downloads